MANAGER RELATIONS

One-on-One Meetings with Your Manager

1. One-on-one meetings are regular private check-ins with your manager.

2. Prepare a short agenda before each meeting to stay organized.

3. Discuss current project blockers and ask questions openly.

4. Use this valuable time to review long-term goals and progress.

One-on-One Discussion & Feedback

BEST PRACTICES

Communicating and Receiving Feedback

PROACTIVE COMMUNICATION

- Report project delays early to keep team trust strong.
- Always suggest possible solutions when presenting a problem.

Habit: Keep Everyone Informed Early

RECEIVING FEEDBACK

- Listen to constructive feedback without taking it personally.
- Turn advice into small, measurable actions to improve.

Habit: Listen, Reflect, and Improve

MENTORSHIP STRATEGY

Making the Most of Mentorship

1. Look for mentors whose technical work and attitude you respect.

2. Respect your mentor's limited time by preparing specific questions.

3. Take notes during discussions and apply the advice you receive.

4. Follow up with your results and express genuine gratitude.
